CAREFUL FERTILIZATION

BIG FACTOR

IN CORN PRODUCTION

There's danger to your pocket-book if you fertilize corn improperly.

Agronomists at Virginia Polytechnic Institute says extensive tests during the last four years in Virginia have shown that large amounts of fertilizer placed in contact with corn seed can cause serious injury to the stand and yield of corn.

Injury has been most apparent when the moisture supply was low during the germination period. When there was plenty of moisture, the placement of fertilizer has had little effect on the stand and yield of corn.

When nitrogen, potash, and phosphorus were individually applied at high rates in contact with the seed, nitrogen caused a larger drop in stand and yield then did potash. Injury from phosphate thus far has been small.

The data indicate that for top yields, only small amounts of a complete fertilizer should be applied in the row. Large amounts of fertilizer should be disked in before planting.

SKIDMORE ADDRESS

left to see this place where we now stand. But when the Second Corps of John B. Gordon marched into Appomattox Court House to stack their arms in surrender, Two Hundred and Ten officers and men of the Stonewall Brigade led the way as usual.

General Grant's men, under General Chamberlain, were accustomed to unconditional surrender and always took advantage of an opportunity to mock and jeer the defeated enemy, but that day they stopped to attention and saluted the ragged, starving men of Jackson. Chamberlain said afterwards, and I quote; "On our part not a sound of trumpet, nor roll of drum, nor a cheer, nor word nor whisper of vain glorying. . .but an awed silence rather, and breath - holding as if it were the passing of the dead.

We assemble here today to do honor to such men as these who gave their all for a cause which they believed in.

Now it is for us, who come to this place engraved deep in the history of our great Nation, to once again dedicate ourselves to the fight we have before us. Our country is in a struggle to the death with an ideology which denounces freedom and God. Titov, the Russin cosmonaut, sneeringly remarked recently, "In my travels around the earth, I saw no God or angles." But, thank God for John Gleen who answered, "The God I pray to is not so small that I expected to see Him in space."

We, in America, today must teach our children to believe in honesty, morality, and the individual Freedoms and Rights of men. We must not compromise or be lulled to sleep by the Communists. They are out to destroy us. We hould instill the fighting spirit and the love for God into our posterity—that which "Stonewall" Jackson had. We must never lose the great traditions of America or truly "We shall be buried" as Kruschev has promised.

The liberty and freedoms which a million Americans preserved for us in their own rich, red blood, can be lost — through COMPLACENCY and INDIFFERENCE and GREED and SELFISHNESS. So let us dedicate ourselves to the great task of our time — to re-establish Patriotism in America. Since 1940, it has been dying. This fact is attested by the small gathering here today. We cannot afford to take our freedoms for granted.

Let's get back that feling of National Pride, and Love, which puts a sting in our spine when we hear the "Star Spangled Banner" and tears to our eyes when we think of the honored dead — and a prayer to our lips when we see the condition of a world lost in sin and unbelief.

Although Savings Bond drives have the basic purpose of providing the government with working capital, they also achieve an even greater purpose: they enable millions of Americans to save systematically for worthwhile goals.
